COMMITTEE OF 15 TO INVESTIGATE SCHOOL SYSTEM

Mass Meeting Takes Action on Appeal to Relieve the
Crowded Condition

A mass meeting last night in the assembly room of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school instructed the grammar school board of trustees to appoint a committee of fifteen representative citizens to investigate conditions in the local school system and make recommendations in regard to a definite program of expansion.

Following the meeting, the board made twelve appointments to this committee, with the understanding that the other three members should be appointed as soon as possible. Those appointed were Harold L. Adams, Mrs. Myrtle Buckman, H. V. Henry, Francis E. Wilkinson, W. C. Wattle, Peter L. Ferry, O. B. Newby, P. J. Thompson, Mrs. E. S. McKee, J. L. Hotten, Mrs. O. W. Esselman and Ernest Morgan.

W. E. Hewitt of 911 East Randolph street was chosen as chairman of the mass meeting. As soon as the committee of fifteen is ready to report, he was requested to call another mass meeting.

Crowded Condition

J. D. Hibben of 123 East Laurel street commented briefly upon the crowded condition in the school system. He is president of the Grammar School Board of Education.

"We cannot take care of the children if they continue to come," he asserted. "We hope that they will because Glendale isn't going to stop growing. We don't know how we can adjust the schools for February. By next September we will have to have more buildings."

Richardson D. White, superintendent of the local school system, outlined conditions in the grammar schools more fully. He stated that $78,000 of the $260,000 bond issue voted last year had been spent for necessary real estate, including the sites for the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school and the Grand View school, and that a large part of the balance had been spent for these two new schools. Exclusive of manual training, domestic science rooms, locker rooms and (Continued on Page 13)

John S. McGroarty to Talk to Boys

John S. McGroarty, noted writer-traveler, author of the Mission Play, will be at the Glendale Public library on East Harvard street, Glendale, tomorrow night with the express purpose of talking to the Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills District council.

A delightful program has been arranged by Mrs. J. C. Danford, head librarian, and members of the library board will be on hand to welcome the scouts to the library. The program tomorrow night at the public library marks the close of Children's Book Week which has been nationally observed by public libraries, bookstores, mothers' clubs, Parent-Teacher associations, schools, churches and Boy Scout organizations during the week of November 11 to 18.

Although the program has been especially arranged for the Boy Scouts in recognition of the fact that the officials of this organization suggested and loaned leadership to the first Children's Book Week held four years ago, Mrs. Danford and Scout Executive Benner have agreed to invite all the school children in Glendale as well as their parents and friends.

As the seating capacity of the library is limited the doors of the library will have to be closed as soon as all seats have been taken. It is thought that a record crowd will be on hand to hear Mr. McGroarty's talk. He is planning to personally meet and shake hands with every Boy Scout and Scout leader present. The program is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Annexation Forces Will Meet Tonight

A meeting of those favoring the annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles will be held tonight in the assembly room of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school. John W. Uilson of 361 West Harvard street is scheduled to call the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock. It is stated that the organization favoring annexation to Los Angeles will seek members at tonight's meeting. It is also expected that some reasons will be advanced as to why the leaders of the organization favor annexation.

CITIZENS CALL MASS MEETING TO OPPOSE ANNEXATION PLAN

Urge Loyal Residents to Meet at High School Next Wednesday Night

Glendale citizens, aroused to action through publication in The Glendale Evening News of the fact that there is a movement under way to bring about, if possible, the annexation of this city to Los Angeles, have called a mass meeting to be held next Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the Glendale Union High school auditorium. The notice of the meeting follows:

We, the undersigned citizens of Glendale, believing that the welfare and progress of our community are threatened by propaganda seeking to enlist support for a movement towards annexation with Los Angeles, hereby organize one with the other to afford this community an opportunity to place its disapproval upon all such movements, without the expense of holding an election to register this negative.

We, therefore, call upon all true and loyal taxpayers and residents of Glendale to appear at a mass meeting to be held Wednesday, November 22, at 8 o'clock in the Union High School auditorium, for the full expression of sentiment upon the matter as now being propagated among our citizens.

We call upon all taxpayers to appear and express each for him or herself any and all thought upon this important matter, in anticipation of any organized effort to secure an endorsement of annexation.

You are menaced by an attempt to add the assets of your city to those of Los Angeles, by an attempt to place upon your property a share of the burden of $87,000,000 bonded indebtedness. The situation is serious. It must be met with a united front. Let us get together.

Give Entertainment At Central School

The meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Central school, held over from a week ago Thursday, took place last night. Miss Annie L. McIntyre, school principal, had charge of the program, which was given by the children. The first number was a salute to the flag by all present, which Mrs. Harwood, of the fourth grade, led in the singing of "America." Several events, by pupils of the various grades, then took place, followed by a vocal number by Miss Taylor, of the third grade.

A short business meeting followed the entertainment, during which Miss McIntyre spoke of the success of the recent Parent-Teachers Association membership drive. She was followed by Mrs. C. H. Crawford, who spoke for the chaperone petition, urging that it be signed by all mothers. Mrs. D. S. Reichard, president of the association, then introduced the room mothers. To those unfamiliar with this system, it should be explained that two mothers are appointed to assist the teacher of each grade in caring for the children.

Mrs. Harwood won the prize—a beautiful basket of flowers—for having had the most mothers in her room, for the last period.

Mrs. C. H. Thompson, refreshment chairman, provided tea and cake.

RULES AGAINST NOVELIST
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Gouverneur Morris, widely known author and scenario writer, must file an amended complaint for divorce, according to a ruling made by Judge Crail in which he sustained a demurrer to Morris' original complaint. The demurrer was filed in behalf of the wife, Eliza Morris, who was said to be proprietor of a beauty shop in New York City.

Uncle John Says--

I haf to laugh at Mary, but I don't dare let her know it. A circular from a Los Angeles store was brought to the door the other day advertisin' bed sheets at $1.25. Mary needed sheets and $1.25 seemed awful reasonable. This bargain looked bigger to Mary than any notion of loyalty to the home town so she dressed in her best and started for Los Angeles, goin' out the back door and walkin' briskly so Mrs. Rogers wouldn't see her. But, by Jupiter, if you'd seen that woman come creepin' home, worn out from walkin' and bein' jostled up and down Broadway, carryin' a big bundle and havin' to stand up on the car all the way home. And that very night in Pendroy's ad in The Glendale Evening News she seen the same sheets advertised for $1.10. But, by gosh, I learned long ago when to say nothin' and not crack a smile.

Tomorrow's Circus Day In Glendale

Tomorrow's Circus Day, and the formal program of the day's celebration is to be announced with a riot of noise and gaiety and a parade of gay costumed performers from the Elks club house on Colorado street up Brand boulevard, through the city's business district and back again to the club house for final preparations for the afternoon and evening events.

The parade is scheduled to leave the "circus grounds" at 10:30 o'clock and alto there will be no elephants or monkeys or polar bears to thrill the curbstone audiences, or a scolding callopie to shriek, or sideshow backers to shout. "Plenty of time for the side-shows before the big show begins." The procession will present a carnival picture to thrill both young and old and lure them to the many attractions offered in the "big tent" on Colorado street.

Final plans were being made today by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery and Tuesday afternoon club members and friends for installing and decorating the various booths in readiness for the opening at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Afternoon Club to Initiate Fifteen

There are fifteen Glendale women who will become full standing members of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the next meeting. Their applications were favorably acted upon at the executive committee meeting on Monday and their names read at the Charter Day meeting Tuesday.

Included in the list are Mesdames Hugh Bryan, William H. Pearl, John Covert, Jennie Dossie, M. M. Johnson, Charles T. Jones, Walter Richardson, Bion F. Warner, Charles Gowan, H. Miller, I. Grossman, Allie W. Anderson, and Misses Myra M. Bartlett, Jeanette Baldwin and Myrtle Baldwin.

Of particular interest to those women is the fact that they are announced as new club members on the day of the—cornerstone celebration Tuesday, the last Charter Day the club will observe in rented quarters.

Autos Collide on San Fernando Road

J. B. Treadwell of 1936 South San Fernando road, about 4:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon witnessed a collision between automobiles driven by Mrs. Fred W. Antrim, 730 East Raleigh street, and S. Keller of 159 South Rio street, Los Angeles. Mrs. Antrim asserted that Mr. Keller had driven his delivery car into her car, smashing its left rear fender and damaging its top.

VOICE OPPOSITION TO PROJECT FOR ANNEXATION

Members of Advancement Association Assert They Do Not Favor Move

The Glendale Advancement Association, "from Missouri" in regard to Glendale's annexation to Los Angeles.

This topic was brought up at yesterday's weekly luncheon in the Broadway Inn by C. E. Stanley of 108 North Everett street, who said that he was opposed to annexation but asked for a vote upon the subject.

Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway objected to this question being put to a vote because he felt that the members of the association were not well enough acquainted with the facts in the case.

"I am free to say," he remarked, "that I am absolutely opposed to annexation." C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue, who presided, asserted that he was "prejudiced against annexation." He said that he would "have to be shown" how Glendale would benefit by annexing to Los Angeles.

Committee Inquiry
Upon motion of Mrs. Mabel L. Tight of 612 East Broadway, Mr. Ingledue promised to appoint a committee to obtain the facts in the case and submit them to the association at its next meeting.

Harry James of 1560 East Wilson avenue suggested that the organization should not postpone action on this subject too long. He remarked that propagandists in favor of annexation were quite active.

William C. Page of 316 East Broadway and P. J. Hayselden of 612 East Broadway were endorsed by this association as candidates for the Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

The proposed hotel for the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway was the subject of a brief discussion.

George A. Whitney, representative of the W. Ross Campbell company of Los Angeles stated that the Anthony company had withdrawn the deed for the property from escrow. He said that he had had daily conference with Mr. Ambrosini, but that they had been unable to come to any agreement which would be satisfactory.

City Council Fails to Change Dog Law

Another attempt was made at the meeting of the City Council last night to amend the ordinance regulating the care of dogs so that it would permit owners taking the canines out on a leash. It was pointed out that the city of Los Angeles has abolished the dog ordinance entirely.

Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, declared that his department was still treating people for dog bites and that the danger of rabies had not been removed. He strongly protested against changing the ordinance.

Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, as J. H. Lapham were in favor of amending the measure so that dogs might be taken out on leash, but when the motion was put to a vote Councilman S. A. Davis voted in opposition and Councilman C. E. Kimlin and Mayor Spencer Robinson refused to vote.

"We waste a whole lot of time on this dog question every meeting and seem to get no place," commented Councilman Stephenson.

"Yes, and the ordinance is not being properly enforced," said Councilman Lapham. "We can't get anyone to serve as dog-catcher."

Special Meter Tax Removed by Council

Beginning with the December bills, the meter charge of 35 cents being made each month by the city of Glendale will be eliminated. This action is the result of a motion made by Councilman S. A. Davis at the meeting of the City Council last night and carried unanimously.

"And I want it distinctly understood," declared Councilman Davis, "that in making this motion I am not doing so because of any recent publicity about the matter. In fact, we promised the people this special tax would be removed when our revenues were sufficient. We have reached the point where our finances are taking care of themselves and so I move that beginning with the December bills the 35-cent charge no longer be made."

William Verity In Automobile Smash

Southern Glendale about 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon was the scene of an auto collision. William H. Verity of 511 West Broadway, was motoring north on San Fernando road. Harry O. Lindsay of La Crescenta is reported to have driven his car into the left side of Mr. Verity's car while near Central avenue.

MEMBERSHIP LIST OF ROTARY CLUB IS INCREASING

Four New Names on Rolls of Organization; Varied
Matters Discussed

The local Rotary club, at its meeting yesterday noon, welcomed as brother Rotarian four new members—John Huntley, Ed Nisley, J. A. Newton and Ruie Downing. This swells the membership to thirty-three, it was brought out.

An excellent luncheon was served, during which President Roy L. Kraft called upon various members for short talks. The first speaker was George U. Moyse, high school principal and Rotary Bulletin editor. He called attention to the fact that the attendance last week was twenty-seven, percentage 90. Mr. Moyse also announced that at the present meeting four visiting Rotarians were in attendance, Peter B. Schmeett, of Victoria, B. C.; Alex Stewart, of Oakland; Albert Tiedeman, of Alameda, and J. C. Stammers, of Alameda.

In closing his remarks, Mr. Moyse called attention to the fact that November being the annual roll call for the American National Red Cross, the local Rotary had co-operated by forming a sort of liaison committee, consisting of Charles Cooper, chairman, George Bentley, J. I. Wernette and Francis J. Henry.

Educational Movement

Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, then spoke of the educational movement inaugurated by the Rotary to reach crippled and invalid boys and girls unable to attend the public schools. He stated that, now the Board of Education has taken over this work, the Rotary should not cease its efforts, but should seek to improve the physical condition of these unfortunate little ones, wherever possible, pointing out that a hospital in Los Angeles has accomplished wonderful results in this direction. At Mr. White's suggestion, each member present contributed $1 toward the maintenance of this institution, which depends upon the public for its support. Dr. Lucas, of Pueblo, Colo., a guest of one of the members, substantiated Mr. White's remarks and mentioned cases in his experience that had been very greatly benefited by orthopedic treatment.

The family then returned to their old home in Kansas and there she completed her high school work. Miss Trull and her parents are now making their permanent home in Glendale.

Talks and Concert at P. T. A. Meeting

The presentation to the school of a picture of George Washington by Francis J. Smith, a talk on child labor legislation by Dr. Jessie A. Russell, and an informal talk by Dr. Ella Wright, of Anchorage, Alaska, were interesting events of the Broadway Parent Teachers Association meeting yesterday afternoon at the school.

Mr. Winifred Trull, a companion to a picture of Abraham Lincoln, the pictures to be awarded at each Parent Teachers Association meeting to the two grades having the largest representations of mothers will have the pictures for the coming month are the sixth and fourth.

Mrs. Mary Ryan, principal, gave a paper on "Americanism." During the business session the Parent Teachers Association members voted to purchase shrubbery for the school grounds and rods and curtains for the school kindergarten.

Other numbers on the afternoon's program were Hawaiian music and dances by Mrs. Smith and her daughter Phyllis Lane, and a reading by Miss Zoe Thompson, teacher of the fourth grade.

The sultan took refuge on a British warship in the Golden Horn, which later steamed for Malta, the British naval base in the Mediterranean sea. The Turkish nationalist assembly at Ankara had already abolished the sultanate and ordered the sultan placed on trial charged with betraying Turkey. Violence was reported from Constantinople. Hussein Hilmi, leader of the Turkish socialist party, was assassinated. As the sultan went on board the Malaya he said he was not abdicating the throne but was merely going to a place of safety. The allied high commissioners feared the ruler would be assassinated. Mohammed VI said he did not recognize the Ankara decree abolishing the sultanate.

CLARA PHILLIPS SEEKS TO AVOID SENTENCE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Even the four jurors who voted for acquittal for Clara Phillips believed she committed the "hammer murder" of Mrs. Alberta Meadows. They voted "not guilty" only to save her from the death penalty. At all times in the jury room they were willing to convict her as long as the verdict was not one of first degree murder. Disbelief of the testimony of Peggy Caffee, star prosecution witness, whom Mrs. Phillips accused of buying the hammer and striking the first blows, caused the four jurors to hold out against the extreme penalty. This new disclosure concerning the jury room battle in the case of Mrs. Phillips was made today by C. C. Eddy, one of the four jurors who voted for acquittal, and corroborated by the three other acquittal jurors. Mrs. Phillips was reported to have slept soundly in her cell at the county jail last night. She was up early this morning and looked forward to a conference with her attorney, Bert Herrington, on plans for her appeal from the verdict.

HARDING PRESENTS MESSAGE TO HIS CABINET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Harding today presented to the cabinet the tentative draft of his message to the special session of congress, which he is expected to deliver at the capitol in person Tuesday afternoon. Only a few minor details remained to be cleared up before the message is ready for final presentation, it was said. The president is anxious to secure approval of his cabinet to the draft before putting it in final form. The message is said to be short, but forceful, and deals almost exclusively with the merchant marine act, to which the administration is pledged. Other legislative matters will be discussed only in a perfunctory manner. Mr. Harding feels hopeful that the ship subsidy can be passed before March, despite the strong opposition expected to be launched against it, especially in the senate. This optimistic attitude also is held by Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board. Nothing will be left undone by administration supporters to force a quick passage of the measure. President Harding has stressed this point in conferences with congressional leaders. He is especially desirous that the ship subsidy be cleared from the legislative calendar early so that appropriation bills can be passed before March 4, thus avoiding the necessity of calling a special session of the new congress next spring. The president wants to give the nation a long rest from congress after March.

LARGE MARKET AND STORE BUILDINGS FOR SO. BRAND

Local Men Back of Project to Erect Structures on Close-In Property

South Brand boulevard is to have a large first class market and another modern store building.

An up-to-the-minute market is to be constructed immediately at 227 South Brand boulevard for Roy L. Kent and A. D. Baird.

A syndicate has been formed consisting of A. L. Baird, Roy L. Kent, Charles W. Kent, and W. G. Lauderdale who will own the store building to be constructed at 225 South Brand boulevard adjoining the market.

The two lots upon which these two buildings will be located have been acquired from J. J. Nesom of 125 West Elm street and the Pay 726 San Fernando company of Los Angeles for a consideration of approximately $70,000.

Plans Being Completed.
Plans for the new structure are now being completed by the Roy L. Kent Construction Company. Work will be commenced upon the new buildings about the first of the year.

The market will have a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 140 to the alley. The building will be faced with terra cotta and rough brick and will cost about $15,000. The interior will be free from posts which will improve its appearance. The front will have collapsible glass doors. "We aim to include everything that would be found in a first class market and some novel features," declared Mr. Baird. "There probably will be a women's rest room on the mezzanine floor."

Negotiations are now under way with a large grocery company to establish one of its branches in the market, while similar negotiations are under way with a prominent retail meat company.

Both Mr. Baird and Mr. Kent feel that South Brand boulevard is entitled to a market. They feel assured that it will receive a good patronage.

The store building will harmonize in construction with the market. It will have a frontage of fifty feet and a depth of seventy feet and will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000. The center street will have a width of about twenty feet while the two on either side will have a width of about fifteen feet. All three will have suitable display windows and ornamental fronts.

To the first depositor of the day they will make a special gift of a gold pencil.

Start Proceedings on Colorado Pavement

On motion of Councilman S. A. Davis, legal steps were taken at the meeting of the city council last night looking to the pavement of Colorado from the Eagle Rock city limits to the San Fernando road. The pavement will be fifty-six feet in width, it is proposed.

When Councilman Davis proposed that the pavement be of Willite, other members of the council voiced protest, saying that they did not believe property owners would pay the royalty demanded by that class of paving. However, Councilman Davis won his point to have Willite specified, as it was pointed out that the proceedings could be protested if the property owners are not satisfied.

THEATRES

The Glendale

"Broadway Rose," featuring lovely Mae Murray, proves to be a very popular picture at the Glendale theatre, where it continues as the chief attraction. Perhaps one reason for its popularity is that it provides this chic star with a role giving prominence to her dancing ability. For, previous to her screen career, Miss Murray was a New York dancer of note, being a member of the celebrated Ziegfeld Follies.

It is not altogether by dancing, however, that she has won her way into the hearts of the public. For little Mae has proved that she is a splendid actress as well. Strong dramatic roles with colorful settings seem to set her off to the best advantage. Such a role she has in "Broadway Rose."

No point in Scotland is more than forty miles from sea water.

The T. D. & L.

"The Hound of the Baskervilles" comes to the T. D. & L. Theatre today. Again the dramatic treasure chest of world-famous Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has been opened, and once more immortal Sherlock Holmes and his devoted friend Watson swing across the shadow screen.

Those who have read the story will of course see the picture. For those who have not—here is a flaming hound that bays across the desolate English moors at night, a savage, man-eating beast whose body glows with weird phosphorescence, and whose sudden and baffling appearance strikes terror into the countryside.

This hound is largely responsible for the mystery Sherlock Holmes finally solves, after a series of the most intensely dramatic episodes.

Factories In India Doing Big Business

CALCUTTA—The annual report of the chief inspector of factories for Bengal and Assam for the year 1921 contains some interesting features. Factories which numbered 698 in the year 1920 rose to 742 in the following year. The daily number of operatives employed increased, however, very slightly from 468,896 to 469,744. In most factories inspected the supply of drinking water was found adequate, but by sinking tube wells efforts were made to increase the supply.

There is a steady improvement in the living conditions of factory operatives. In the Calcutta industrial area housing accommodation is being extended, and the construction of coolie lines is reported in the Dacca, Narainganj and Chandpur districts. Temporary shortage of labor was reported in one or two districts, but the trouble was not of long duration. 56,226 women and 36,286 children being employed in Bengal and a few hundreds in Assam.

As regards women, there is practically no difference in the figures. Children show an increase of 1355 over the figures of the previous year. The report concludes by drawing attention to the need for more fencing machinery in the factories, and deplores the evil results which ensue from withholding additional expenditure needed for factory inspection. The new factories act, it points out, will largely increase the number of registered factories in Bengal and new factories will need inspection more closely by those familiar with the requirements of the act.

Flappers In China Sport Silk Garters

WASHINGTON—The flapper in China is displaying American fancy colored garters beneath the edge of her silk pantaloons, according to a report made public today by the department of commerce.

"Many a rich Chinese merchant of today rides in an American motor car," continues the report, "talks on an American telephone, sleeps in an American brass bed, is awakened by an American alarm clock, shaves before an American mirror with an American razor, carries an American watch and wears American shoes."

"He still clings to his silk robes but often above them wears an American hat instead of the black skull cap with its red buttons, and almost invariably holds up his socks with American garters."

"Even the coolie has not been unaffected by the introduction of western wares. His blue working clothes, which are generally his Sunday suit as well, are made of cotton cloth from the west, much of it American. In many cities he works in a factory at American machines and in his rare leisure hours studies American union laborism. Recent increases in wages have resulted from strikes conducted along American lines."

Mrs. Moon, who inherited $200,000 from her father, Peter Grosscup, waived alimony.

British Merchants Oppose Girl Clubs

LONDON—The retail traders of the large manufacturing centers of England have declared war on the hundreds of girls' clubs—organized in music, factories and commercial houses—which undertake to supply their members with candy and wearing apparel at much lower prices than asked for at the stores. The retailers have lost thousands of pounds yearly through the activities of these clubs, and their trade in many products has been permanently curtailed.

The first legal action against the clubs is being brought by the British federation of confectioners, who are seeking to have the confection trade of the clubs stopped as being an unfair form of trading.

Government Makes New Letter Boxes

WASHINGTON—The Washington navy yard has delivered to the post office department the first hundred of an order of approximately 10,000 letter boxes, marking the initial entry of a government establishment into the manufacture of the ordinary boxes used on street corners for the reception of letters.

An announcement today by the department said that it had been experiencing difficulty under the contract system of purchase in getting the boxes delivered promptly and made known that hereafter it will be able to furnish the dies and tools to contractors, a fact it believes will widen competition for the sale of the equipment to the government.

MERCHANTS PLAN PAVEMENT DANCE

Festivities Will Be Held Tonight on 200 Block; North Brand Blvd.

One of the most novel dances ever held in Glendale will take place tonight on the street paving carping the 200 block, on north Brand.

The dance, which will be the first of its kind ever held in this city, is being staged by the merchants in the 200 north Brand block for the purpose of calling attention to their big dollar day sales, which close tomorrow night.

Permission for closing the dance arena from traffic was obtained this morning from city authorities, and according to W. A. Kenny, of the Kenny Music company, everything in the entertainment line is being drummed up by the committee in charge to make tonight's dance one that will be long remembered by Glendaleans.

Music for the celebration will be furnished by the Kenny Music Shop and the Shuck Music Company. It will consist of all the "jazzy" dance selections on the market.

A large magnavox for broadcasting the music will be used by Messrs. Kenny and Shuck so that couples dancing in the most remote sections of the block will be enabled to keep in step.

The dance festivities will begin at 8 p. m., and will continue just as long as the crowd lingers, Mr. Kenny stated this morning.

Everybody is invited by the 200 north Brand block merchants to participate.

The big show begins at 8 o'clock tonight.

TORIES VICTORS IN BRITISH ELECTION

'Tranquility' Policy to Be Enforced Immediately by Premier-Elect Law

By David M. Church
For International News Service.
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Supported by a Tory majority of at least eighty in the house of commons, Premier Andrew Bonar Law set-tled down today to put his policy of "tranquility" fully into effect. His first official act was to despatch Lord Curzon, foreign secretary, to France to cement closer the Anglo-French entente and make preliminary arrangements for the Near East peace conference.

Leaders among the 141 Laborites elected to commons said they would support all peace measures. They are threatening, however, to introduce at an early date measures calling for the nationalization of the coal mines and the railways.

The feature of the election—a subject still under discussion in political clubs—was the overwhelming defeat of former Premier Lloyd George's candidates.

Returns compiled at noon showed the following elected:

Tories, 342.

Laborites, 141.

Lloyd George Liberals, 59.

Asquith Liberals, 51.

Others, 12.

Constituencies not yet counted, 10.

New Parliament Meets Monday

The new parliament will meet on Monday. The new members will be sworn in Monday and Tuesday. There are three women among them.

It is anticipated that within the next few weeks the defeated ministers will be elected to commons through pre-arranged retirements.

The Laborites will make a strenuous effort to secure the election of Arthur Henderson.

Supporters of Lloyd George will endeavor to obtain the election of Winston Churchill, who was defeated by the Dundee Socialists.

The Daily Express, chief opponent of Lloyd George, in commenting on the result, said:

"It spells ruin of Lloyd Georgeism."

"The nation has committed itself to reaction for at least five years," said the Chronicle, organ of Lloyd George.

Chicago Woman Uses Live Fox As Scarf

CHICAGO — Chicago stopped and took a second look when Mrs. Allen Ziegenfuss appeared on the streets today "wearing" a live fox for a neckpiece. She told admirers the live animal is preferable to the tanned fur.

"I picked up Goldie in the mountains of Nevada when on a hike this summer," she said. "It was easy enough to train her to coil about my neck, but I have to keep on the look out for chickens. She simply won't stay put if a hen crosses her path."

Sultan Facing Trial on Betraying Charge

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 17.—The Turkish nationalist assembly has decided to place the Sultan, Mohammed VI, on trial along with his ministers on the charge of betraying Turkey according to a dispatch from Ankara today.

The Sultan is at present under the protection of the allies and is guarded by British soldiers. The manner of applying the assembly's decision and date of the trial were not explained in the telegram.

It was stated, however, that the accusations would be based upon certain telegrams received in Ankara from the grand vizier. There is a possibility that the Kemalists will send a note to the Sultan making formal request that Mohammed VI be surrendered.

Rafet Pasha, representative in Constantinople of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, continues to give the allied high commissioners much trouble. He has apparently adopted a "policy of annoyance."

Rafet has placed guards over the depots of surrendered war materials and refused to allow allied officers of the high commission to view the materials.

Acting upon instructions from Ankara, Rafet has told the high commissioners that the Turkish government expects allied officers to handle only military affairs affecting the allied armies and navies. He suggested that liaison officers be appointed to work with the Turkish military police.

MRS. CAMPBELL HOSTESS TO CLUB

Regular Meeting of Thursday Afternoon Organization Held Yesterday

The Thursday Afternoon club of Glendale, in response to a special invitation, held its regular social meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kemper Campbell, 322 Roads End, in South Glendale.

The program opened with the flag salute, led by Mrs. Wm. C. Mabry, president. Minutes of the last social and directors' meetings were read by the recording secretary, Miss Eva Daniels, and were approved.

Included in these was a report from the chairman of the philanthropic committee, Mrs. Hal Davenport, stating that during the past month a large truck load of saleable articles had been collected and donated to the salvage store of the Children's Hospital in Los Angeles. A gratifying report of the net proceeds from the recent bazaar was also read.

The following list of names of new members was read: Mrs. Sumner Hamilton, Mrs. P. O. Crans, Mrs. Emma Haller, Mrs. Charles Weyman, Mrs. Amy Crist, Mrs. Edward Weston, Mrs. Leona Eller, Mrs. Will Cline.

Col. Everington Introduced

Mrs. Kemper Campbell introduced Col. James W. Everington, who made a short and stirring talk explanatory of the drive to be launched presently for the benefit of the Salvation Army. Col. Everington has had unusual opportunities of observing the work of this organization which, he said, "reaches down into nooks of city life that we never see."

He was especially impressed with the tremendous amount of work accomplished by the small personnel of the Salvation Army in the front lines in Europe during the late war, where he was acting superintendent of co-ordination of the societies engaged in relief work near the field of operation.

At the close of his talk he appealed to the club and asked it to be responsible for a district covering an area of fifteen blocks in the interest of the drive. His request met with a ready response and a committee was appointed to canvass the district.

The women named on this includes Mrs. E. V. Bacon, Mrs. Wm. C. Mabry, Mrs. Kemper Campbell, Mrs. Jessie Barnes, Mrs. Server, Mrs. A. H. Mayne, Mrs. S. E. Brown, Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Mrs. Charles Weyman, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. A. Cunningham, Mrs. A. J. Becker and Mrs. Dolliver.

Mrs. Kemper Campbell entertained her guests very pleasantly with a half hour talk and tour of inspection of her "tabloid" home, as she designates the charming residence which she personally planned and directed in the building with every comfort and convenience in the most compact form. Each detail therein was planned with the one great object in view, the elimination of work.

The exterior with its quaint, conical roof, and the grounds with fascinating stepping stones, sunken garden, winding paths and flower-covered banks are altogether pleasing in effect.

This was followed by a social hour and tea and wafers were served by the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. Carrie Campbell, Mrs. Roy Bancroft, Mrs. Jessie Barnes and Mrs. E. J. Morgan. Mrs. Rose Archer assisted.

The club will entertain with a card party Saturday night, Nov. 25, at the home of Mrs. P. L. Fox, 719 East Palmer avenue. A rummage sale was announced also for the first week in December.

Uses His Wringer to Shell Bean Crop

WELLINGTON, Ohio. — C. M. Ross no longer blisters and calouses his hands, as he did while husking the first fifty bushels of beans. Ross shucked 200 bushels with a new invention in quicker time than he shelled fifty bushels by hand.

He now runs the beans through a wringer, which squeezes the beans out of the pods in an "excellent manner," Ross said.

HARDING PHILOSOPHICAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. --

President Harding is taking a philosophical attitude toward the losses sustained by the Republicans in congress as a result of widespread Democratic victories in last week's election, it was stated by John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee, following a conference at the White House.

Adams pointed out that this would be the first time in history that the Republicans had continued control of the house after passing a protective tariff bill.

JAPAN RED CROSS HELPS REFUGEES

Prompt Response Is Made to Appeal to Aid Young Folk From Siberia

TOKYO. — In this part of the world the people have been thoroughly familiarized in recent years with the humanitarian work of the American Red Cross, carried out on a truly wholesale scale among the famine-stricken and flood-deluged peoples of China and other regions of the Far East.

Ever since the Russian debacle of 1917, many calls have been made to succor the suffering. The made, also, upon Japan for assistance. The greatest was the call of the Czechoslovak troops who, by the tens of thousands, were migrating slowly across the great Siberian plains, moving ever eastward, their object the fatherland in Europe. But this migration, as well as the help afforded by Japan and the associated powers, was military in character. There was much in the position of the Czechs to arouse sympathy, but they were armed fighting men seeking freedom, and did not come within the category of sufferers utterly helpless and overwhelmed by the forces of nature, or the cruelty of man, such as later Japan was in a position to relieve.

Trek Thousands of Miles
The government, through the agency of the Japan Red Cross society (Nihon Sekijui-sha) probably the largest organization of its kind in the world, is now engaged in another sort of relief work such as appeal strongly to common sympathies. The Red Cross, assisted, of course, by the Japanese military authorities in Siberia, have moved from hard conditions of life hundreds of little refugees.

How these little people, boys and girls, left their homelands, and trekked the thousands of miles eastward through Russia and Siberia is a story that may some day be made known. The heroes and heroines of this great odyssey are yet too young to tell. But they reached the Far Eastern territory of Russia, and only recently an appeal was made to Japan to help them to complete triumphantly their wonderful journey.

Transported by Rail
Japan responded promptly to this appeal, with the gratifying result that 400 children are now on their way to Danzig, actually crossing the seven seas. The children left Vladivostok in three groups, and landing at the port of Tsuruga on the Japan sea, were transported by rail immediately to Osaka, where they were quartered in a large nurses' dormitory attached to the Osaka Municipal hospital, a spacious building just completed, where the children enjoyed for some days such solid comfort, pleasantness and quietness, as many had never in their young lives experienced.

Officially, they were under the care of the governor of Osaka prefecture, who is also the director of the local branch of the Red Cross, while the mayor of the city and others cooperated with the officials dispatched from the Tokyo headquarters of the society, to enable them to enjoy their new life—enjoyment much increased by the sympathy showered upon them from all sides.

Miner Lost for 24 Hours, Is Rescued

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio. — Jack Goble, a coal miner, thought he would take a short cut through some old deserted mine workings to his home at the close of a day's work.

When he got into an old entry his light was snuffed out by bad air. He was forced to crawl on the floor to save his life. For a whole day and a night he crawled in the darkness, trying to find his way to an opening.

Rescue parties, equipped with safety lamps, finally found him, a nervous wreck.

OPPOSITION TO COMBINE

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. —Advertisement.

Make Arrest Today In Ventura Murder

VENTURA, Cal., Nov. 17.—With three persons under close surveillance an arrest was expected today in the mysterious murder late Wednesday night of Buell Barrows while in company with his 17-year-old sweetheart, Hazel Middleton, as they sat at the beach watching a steamer come in.

Deputy sheriffs admitted today that little progress in solution of the crime had been made and that the only motives they could assign for the murder was that it was the work of a maniac or a case of mistaken identity. Officers expressed themselves as being inclined to believe that a jealous husband had killed young Barrows, thinking he was someone else, who was keeping a love tryst with his wife.

According to the story told by Miss Middleton, she and Barrows had gone to the beach about 10 p. m. to watch a steamer dock. Upon arrival at the beach they extinguished the lights of their machine and were sitting in the rear seat.

"After we had been there a few minutes I heard a noise in the rear of our car and started to get out," said Miss Middleton. "Then I noticed a man's figure. Several shots followed immediately. Buell fell slightly forward and I saw his face covered with blood. Everything happened so fast. I threw up my hands to ward off the flash of gun powder from my face and I believe the man fired at me."

Miss Middleton told how the man ran toward the ocean, and "cried in the sand" and then her story. She said she then jumped in the front seat and drove her sweetheart to her home and later to a doctor.

Authorities are trying to connect some automobile tracks found a short ways from the murder with the crime.

Water marks are made by the pattern on the wire cloth mold, on which the paper hardens from the pulp.

DO IT NOW!

ANYTHING that can be done next week or next year can be done now.

This is a rule to which there are few exceptions.

When a man says: "I am going to start saving money next year," it's a safe bet he'll never have a bank account.

There are other types of young men who are making $150 or $200 a month, and tell themselves that they will begin to save when they get salaries of $250 and $300. They are merely whistling pretty tunes.

By the time they get increased salaries they will be married and will be buying baby carriages, beds, certified milk and paregoric.

Any single man reading this can take it from a married man that saving money before marriage is child's play compared to the job of nicking the budget for a few dollars each week after the bonds are tied.

This bank pays four per cent, compound interest on Savings Accounts; and our doors are open every business day from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

KEMAL TO MAKE TURK CITY 'DRY'

Constantinople Now on Last
'Big Time' In Fear of Action by Leader

By JOHN HADLEY
For International News Service.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 17.—Thirsts raised east of Suez are going to be unslackable, so far as Constantinople is concerned, once Mustapha Kemal Pasha takes over the city.

Kemal has made all Anatolia as dry as the Hejaz desert and declares he will do the same for the Turkish capital. It will take considerable drying up to check the moisture of Constantinople, for the per capita consumption of hard liquor in the European quarter of Pera is about the same as it used to be in the old first ward in Chicago.

Douzico, a slow and poisonous drink that hits you with the awkwardness and wallop of Battling Siki and is so powerful that it is never taken without a handful of crackers spread with caviar or sour cheese as a decoy for it to work on the head of the drinker, is the principal beverage. It is made on the spot from raw U. S. alcohol imported from the states in great steel drums.

Monument to Germans
No man can drink douzico long and survive. This is proved by the countless cemeteries that sprawl over all the bare Constantinople hillsides.

When the Germans were the dominant influence at the Sublime Porte they introduced beer to the followers of the prophet, and now one of the biggest breweries in the world is in the city on the Golden Horn. Beer has been the most lasting vestige of the German regime, and a stone no larger than a man's hand thrown at random in any direction in Taksim square would be sure to hit at least three good Mohammedans fidgeting their prayer beads with one hand and a twelve-inch stein of Pilsener with the other. The Koran forbids the consumption of alcohol—but the Koran was written before the Germans introduced beer to Constantinople. The Turk's view probably is that Mohammed might have revised his copy if he had ever tasted Pilsener.

Likes It Himself

Despite Kemal's closing of all the cafes and domino parlors of Anatolia and his ban on the cup that cheers his intimates, Mustapha himself likes his liquor. This may or may not be, but an American business man who went to Kemal's headquarters in Smyrna to protect United States tobacco interests, taking luggage principally composed of a dozen bottles of cognac and the same number of Scotch, became, after the drawing of the initial cork, the most popular non-Mohammedan this side of Gibraltar.

The American tobacco was saved. But the cognac and the Scotch weren't.

Kemal declares, though, that he is going to dry up the town, and the fear that he will make good his threat makes every night in Constantinople a small-scale reproduction of New Year's eve on Broadway in the old days. Constantinople is on its last leg, and it is a large scale jar, with no change given, no drinks mixed and with "We who are about to buy salute you!" the battle cry.

Christians Seeking to Depart Turkey

SAMSOUN, Turkey, Nov. 17.—Practically all the Christian population of Anatolia is in mad flight to get out of Turkey. There are 10,000 Christians here awaiting transportation from Samsoun, and only three ships available to carry them. Forty thousand other Christians are headed in this direction from the interior.

As soon as the Greeks and Armenian Christians learned that the Turks would permit them to leave the country they were seized with unreasoning panic. A great trek was started which is now at its flood tide.

All the roads converging upon Samsoun are blocked. Men, women and children, carrying such poor little packs of household goods as they could carry away with them make up the terror-stricken mass of fugitives.

From every village crowds of silent, panic-stricken refugees march slowly to the sea. Some fall by the wayside and perish. Old men and women and young children drop from the procession and are left to their fate. Bullocks and lame horses, attached to carts, toil painfully forward.

Starvation and pestilence threaten the crowded refugees at Samsoun. But they are cheerful upon their arrival even though they have left their homes behind. They are willing to start life over again in a strange land if they have the promise of liberty.

The Turks are preventing the departure of men between the ages of 19 and 55.

29 MOTORISTS RESCUED

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 17.—Twenty-nine motorists who have been snow-bound at a Stanley homestead, 19 miles north of Cheyenne since last Saturday were rescued by a party from this city which succeeded in reaching the homestead by means of a huge caterpillar tractor and a heavy truck. They were brought to the city, little the worse for their experience. Their food for five days consisted solely of beans and potatoes. The marooned motorists left Wheatland, Wyo., last Saturday and were caught in a heavy snowstorm and were forced to take refuge in the shack at Stanley.

GERMANY FACING SERIOUS CRISIS

Both Internal and External Trouble Results In Fall of Wirth Government

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service.
BERLIN, Nov. 17.—Germany today faced both an internal and external crisis as the result of the fall of the Wirth government. Former Chancellor Wirth—ex-professor of mathematics—represented the policy of fulfillment or surrender to the demands of the allies.

The collapse of the Wirth government has been expected for several days owing to pressure from various sides. The adherents of Hugo Stinnes, the industrial magnate, were demanding representation in the government while the socialists voted down a proposal to participate in a coalition cabinet.

The situation is obscure but at the present moment, it appears likely that a "bourgeois coalition cabinet" will be formed with representatives of the German people's party, Democrats and Centrists.

Many Bitter Attacks
It is a question, however, how long such a government could last under the bitter attacks of the socialists and communists. The extremists are assisted by the fact that winter is coming on and a famine of both food and fuel face the German people.

The mark is down so low that it is nearly valueless and debt and taxation are crushing rich and poor alike.

The social Democratic party is the strongest in the Reichstag at present having 180 members. It is taking part in the administration of governmental affairs, however, due to an agreement among its leaders.

The socialist Democrats have come out for the "fulfillment policy," but contend that stabilization of the mark is the first and primary task for any government. It refused to enter the Wirth ministry because the ministry refused to pledge itself to stabilize the mark before it did anything else.

Reichstag May Dissolve

Socialist leaders are in accord as saying that they will keep up incessant attacks against any government in which they are not represented. Dissolution of the Reichstag may result.

If there is a general election one of the biggest issues will be the future attitude of labor. The question of an eight or ten-hour work day would figure vitally. It was brought to the front by Hugo Stinnes, wrecker of the Wirth government, who claims that the eight-hour day is the root of all Germany's evils. He demands that the work day be extended to ten hours and that workers give more thought to their jobs and less to utopian ideals.

Opponents of former Chancellor Wirth accused him of inconsistency and of being chiefly responsible for most of Germany's troubles.

Former King Asserts No Throne for Him

PALERMO, Italy, Nov. 17.—Constantine, former King of Greece and an exile from his native land, has retired from active politics for life and never again will seek to return to the Hellenic throne no matter how loudly the people may call for him, he revealed today in the first interview he has given out since his abdication.

Asked if he would return to Athens to stand trial before a revolutionary tribunal on the charge of being responsible for the Greek military collapse in Asia-Minor, Constantine replied: "It is all nonsense. I am not returning to Athens. I am not going back to stand trial. It is equal nonsense about my going to do so to live near my brother-in-law, the former German Kaiser. I am in complete retirement. Never again will I become involved in politics. I have no plan for the future except to lead a quiet, isolated life. I will remain at Villa Igea in Palermo for the time being."

It is said the monarchists are active in Greece in behalf of Constantine, but the former King knows of it. He will have nothing to do with Greek affairs, will not even discuss them. There are no couriers from Athens visiting him. Occasionally personal friends drop in but not to talk politics. That subject is barred.

Rock Bottom Store Managers at Banquet

Over 100 of the Daleys Rock Bottom store managers attended a big banquet tendered them by Morris & Co., at Paulais, 741 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, last Monday night.

Charles W. Myers, advertising manager of Morris & Co., Chicago, gave an interesting talk on loyalty.

"Loyalty," he said, "consists of two things—faith and works. Faith in the ideals of the heads of the institution for which you are working and which have built it to success, and hard work to keep it so."

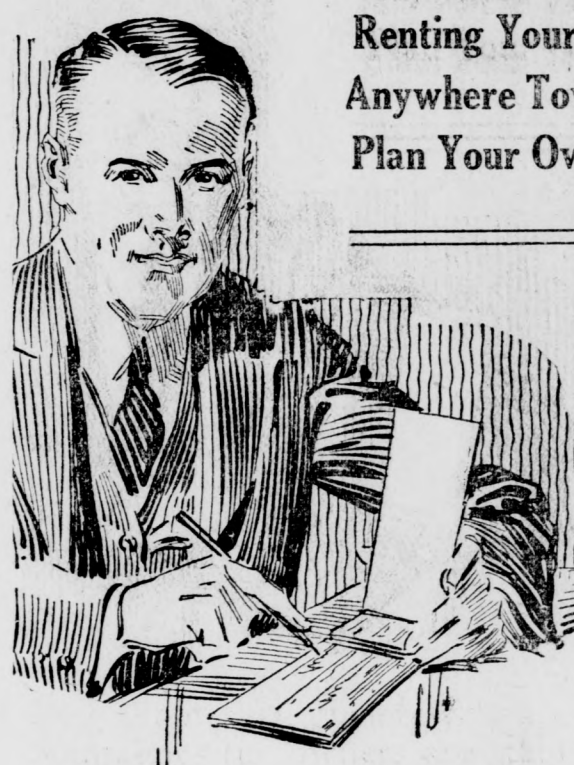

S. A. Daley, president of the Rock Bottom stores, gave an interesting account of his recent trip east. He also introduced to the crowd Chas. M. Iman, the new buyer for the Daleys Store, recently promoted from the management of their Torrance store, where he has been for a year, to his new position.

It would take 5000 bees on the scale to balance a pound weight.

Find New Witness In Murder Mystery

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 17.—A witness was found by an International News Service reporter today who declared positively that the Rev. Edward W. Hall, slain rector of the Church of St. John, had told him of having been threatened with bodily harm by a man named Henry. The witness also quoted Dr. Hall as saying he had quarreled with his wife repeatedly over Mrs. Eleanor Mills, leader of the choir whose body was found alongside of his, under the stunted crab-apple tree on the old Phillips farm on the morning of September 16.

The witness is Rev. Paul F. B. Hamborsky, formerly pastor of the Hungarian Reformed church of this city and for ten years an intimate acquaintance of the slain rector. Dr. Hamborsky said he talked with Dr. Hall regarding the clergyman's relations with Mrs. Mills and his consequent troubles at home and his quotations from these verbal exchanges form one of the most sensational chapters yet recorded in the double murder mystery that has been replete of sensations from its very inception.

Lloyd George Not to Be U. S. Ambassador

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A report circulated in the United States that former Premier David Lloyd George would succeed Sir Auckland Geddes as British ambassador to Washington was denied by the British foreign office today. Officials of the foreign office said Sir Auckland had given satisfaction and that no change in the diplomatic service at Washington was contemplated at present. It is believed that Lloyd George would welcome the diplomatic post. He has long desired to visit the United States where he is very popular. For the present, however, Lloyd George will confine his political activities to the British House of Commons.

FREIGHT RATE REDUCTION
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Transcontinental freight rates on shipments of imported vegetables, oils, copra, palm kernels and inedible vegetable tallow moving from Pacific coast points to Chicago and points west will be reduced by the Southern Pacific company from 75 to 65 cents per hundred pounds. The lower rate will be effective December 5, it was announced here by J. T. Saunders, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific.

FLASHLIGHT COMMENT

How our tastes do change as the years fly by. There is nothing more interesting than looking back down a vista memory lined with household gods we once worshipped and now are ashamed of.

People who have an attic of many years standing can look down this vista with the physical eye by going up into their eaves. But an attic stored with the accumulations of 40 or 50 years is not such a common possession as it used to be. I suppose there are millions of children today who never played with dolls, never dressed up in clothes, never had a chest, never dragged out big bundles of old St. Nicholases or Harpers' Young People from the nearer reaches of the eaves, or looked longingly into the forbidden far reaches of them with the feeling that any number of wonderful treasures were surely hidden there.

A Japanese Flame Bush
But a Japanese flame bush, instead of an attic, was the agency that turned my eyes down the vista of household gods forsworn. I saw such a bush in the full glory of its stiff, scarlet blooms in an artistic garden and realized for the first time how beautiful a flower is. And yet we had a Japanese flame bush in our garden when I was a child and I hated it, because it looked so stiff, and because it would not make good bouquets for the house, which at that time was my idea of the sole mission of a garden. I have other ideas now.

That Dreadful Lamp Shade!
I also have other ideas about a certain lamp shade we bought in those same days. It was a wonderful yellow globe with Chinese dragons in gilt on it, and we bought it to go on an old fashioned lamp which should have had a simple little spreading shade. Fancy! For some years I regarded it as the one artistic and attractive bit in an old-fashioned parlor. Then we began to have doubts which carried it into a less conspicuous place. Finally it disappeared altogether from the haunts of the living.

A Nubian girl's head is another of the sign posts on my progress toward better taste (I hope). I wonder how many homes contain such a sign post.

The Rogers Groups
Out in the barn of a little Inn where I stayed a few days lately I found two bits of flotsam and jetsam that indexed the taste of 40 years ago as nothing else could. Two Rogers' groups! I suppose to some of my readers that will mean nothing. But if they will ask their fathers and mothers they will doubtless be able to tell them what a mark of gentility and taste the Rogers group once were. No better class home was ever without at least one. And today they are hidden in the barn behind the old buggy and the tool chest!

As you look down the vista of the household gods you have set up so painstakingly, worshipped so fervently, discarded so completely, I wonder what YOU see.

BEAUTY CHATS

GRACEFUL FEET

Any woman who is not actually deformed can possess graceful feet and ankles. The size of the feet has nothing to do with it, it is the way they are used, the way they are dressed, their general appearance of being well cared for.

To keep them in good condition the feet should be frequently massaged, this stimulates the circulation of the blood, which is always sluggish at the extremities of the body, particularly with anemic people. By its stimulation massage lessens the tendency towards corns and the dozen lesser ailments that afflict the feet and make them ugly. A weekly pedicure is so necessary that I do not wish to call it a beauty treatment though it certainly does its share in beautifying.

I should recommend for the busy woman a weekly treatment somewhat as follows. After the bath, while the feet are still warm from their long immersion in hot water, trim all the toenails straight across and cut the two large nails with a slight inpointing V, this to prevent that painful affliction, ingrowing toenails. With the pointed blade of a nail file clean under the skin and scrape away the loose dead skin which collects around the edges. If any ragged or large bits show, clip them with your manicure scissors, and if the big toe-nail is too thick rub it down with wet pumice stone.

If there are corns cover them at the beginning of this treatment with a bit of cotton dipped in witch hazel or even warm soapy water. Now shave them with a sharp knife. After this massage each foot and ankle, using both hands and enough vigor to make the feet feel fresh and stimulated. End by spraying them with toilet vinegar or toilet water and massage again until dry.

F. L. R.—At 17, five feet two, your weight should be 110 pounds.

Discouraged—Sometimes a stubborn case of pimples during the result of infection in which the pimples themselves cause the outbreak. The way to determine powders in which there is sulphur.

Seventeen—The old spots that still remain on the skin must be bleached off now by constant application of lemon juice or peroxide.

Tomorrow—Cold and Hot Baths

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

I, I, I, MYSELF: I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME CHAPTER XVI. Imprisoned!

Oh dear, oh dear! I am in disgrace. And I am unhappy as everything. For such a beautiful and adorable baby as I am to be in disgrace is terrible. And I am in prison. Yes. At any rate part of me is imprisoned. Isn't it awful? To think that such a thing should come to me, of all babies!

You know I am the most beautiful baby in the world. My eyes are heaven's own blue with bright shiny lights in them and also a merry twinkle, an unbeatable combination for beauty. My lashes are dark and silky and alluring. My hair is spun gold. My skin is pink and white and satiny. (It was not ever there. You remember how yellow I got for awhile).

My nose is going to be just like my Daddy's, straight and good sized and commanding, even though it is now sort of button-like. My mouth is a cupid's bow with dimples playing in and out the corners. Also, it is a rosebud of a mouth.

I have the figure of an Adonis. My hands are like roses and perfect in every way, being moulded on the most artistic lines. My feet are absolutely the cunningest things you ever saw in your life.

In fact, I am most too beautiful for a baby, and I ought to have been a girl as far as beauty is concerned.

I know all this because my family have told me these things many times. But now I wish I were not so beautiful! For my fatal beauty is the cause of my undoing. It is the cause of my being in prison. At least part of me is imprisoned. I know you will sympathize with me, my dear friends, so I will tell you all about it. It happened in this manner.

One day, not being very busy sleeping or eating, I was busy my hands around and as my right hand passed in front of my mouth my thumb accidentally slipped in. Gosh! I found it had quite a little kick in it!

However, it seems that a baby can't have his little dissipation sucking his thumb because, forsooth, it will mar his perfect beauty! Well, to continue: I was enjoying my new-found thumb immensely and quietly minding my own affairs, when who should come in but Aunt Sue. I looked up at her with a smile. You know I was very fond of Aunt Sue, though I have told you that while she worships me she is a little bossy and she does not defer to my wishes and opinions quite as much as she should in view of my importance in the world.

"Socks! Adorable one! Take your thumb out of your mouth immediately! You look too cunning" for words, but that will never do. You will spoil your beautiful mouth and bring a lot of troubles on yourself if you suck that dear little thumb. Take it out!"

I look at her reflectively. I continue to suck my thumb. I might as well let Aunt Sue know her place. She isn't my mother. "Now, Baby, you must not do that, I tell you," she says, and with that she takes my thumb away from me. My own thumb!

I put it back. She took it away again. I didn't like it. I let her know, too, in no uncertain terms. I lifted up my voice and wept.

Comes Grammy! My adored one! She looked at Aunt Sue bending over my crib and at me crying. "What is it, darling? What has happened to Grammy's boy? Come to his Grammy. Grammy make it all right, honey child." And she gathered me in her arms and I cuddled me down.

And then I put my thumb in my mouth again and looked at Aunt Sue right stern-like and said as plain as words can say, Aunt Sue, I hope I have taught you your place. You are not my mother. You can't boss me!

But it did not seem to disconcert her. She began to laugh! She has too great a sense of humor, I'll say. She is always seeing something to laugh at.

"What is it, Sue? What are you laughing at and what was Baby crying for?" Grammy demanded.

And when Aunt Sue told her, I got an awful shock. For once Grammy did not take my part! My own Grammy, heretofore absolutely dependable! Woe is me! And my arms are imprisoned so that I cannot get my own thumb in my mouth! I'll tell you more about my troubles next Friday. You do feel unhappy for me, I know. Au revoir, my dear friends.

Book Reviews

"The Vanishing of Betty Varian," by Carolyn Wells, is one of the interesting books of fiction recently added to the shelves of the Glendale Public Library, on Harvard street. It is the story of the vanishing of a young and beautiful girl with no known enemies, and the murder of her father.

"Greek Vase-Painting," by Ernst Buschor, is a general history of Greek vases of all periods.

"The Mediaeval Mind," by Henry Osborn Taylor, is a history of the development of thought and emotion in the mediaeval ages.

"Angels and Ministers," four plays of Victorian shade and character, by Laurence Housman.

"The Amateur's Book of the Dahlia," by Mrs. Charles H. Stout.

"The Splendid Folly," by Margaret Pedler, is the romance of a tempestuous wooing.

"The Secret of the Storm Country," sequel to "Tess," by Grace Miller White.

"Granite and Clay," by Sara Ware Bassett. The story is ingenious and interesting, with the savor of the sea and the dunes, but also containing the culture and sophistication of Boston social life.

They Say That

California's citrus crop for 1921-1922, netted the growers of the state more than $71,000,000. This, despite the injury by freezing, last January. The markets of the United States and Canada were supplied nearly 13,000,000 boxes of oranges and more than 4,000,000 boxes of lemons during the year. "Citrus growers of California," says N. G. Bezell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, "have won an enviable reputation among the trade and the consuming public by their intelligent handling of the damaged crop this season."

This is especially gratifying. For the reputation of California citrus fruits is too precious to be jeopardized. At no time should damaged or seriously inferior fruit be put upon the market from California orchards.

The citrus industry has expanded, in this state, to enormous proportions. It yields, gross, nearly $100,000,000 annually.

As the results of the elections of November 7 stand out more clearly, interesting phases as pertaining to the 1924 Presidential contest come out in relief. Defeat of Albert J. Beveridge for United States Senator in Indiana probably eliminates him from serious consideration for the Republican nomination in 1924, should President Harding not be nominated. But while Mr. Beveridge's Presidential chances became dimmer, his opponent, former Governor Ralston, by his success, looms as a formidable contender for the Democratic nomination in 1924. Former Governor Ferris, who defeated Senator Townsend, in Michigan, also becomes a prominent figure in Democratic circles. Mr. Ferris is the first Democrat to be elected to the Senate from Michigan in seventy years. This is sure to give him prestige in national politics.

In Republican councils, three figures are prominent because of victories at the polls on November 7—Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania; Senator-elect, Fess, of Ohio; and Colonel Brookhart, of Iowa. Either of these three might be formidable figures in the next Republican national convention should the vicissitudes of politics eliminate Mr. Harding from candidacy for a second term.

Among Indian negroes baldness is almost unknown. It is rare, indeed, to see an old negro without a good head of hair.

Beauty Competition Banned by School

LINCOLN, Neb.—Beauty contests among co-eds of the University of Nebraska are a thing of the past. Hereafter members of the fair sex of that university will compete for intellectual or popularity honors only.

Such is the decree of the Pan-Hellenic association, composed of one active and one alumna member from each of the sixteen sororities of the Cornhusker State university. The defi has been hurled at all the newspapers of the land.

STORY IS CORROBORATED

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 17.—Further corroboration of the story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, self-claimed eye-witness of the murder of Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John, the Evangelist, and the choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, was received today.

Detectives have located the wagon which Mrs. Gibson was following on the night of September 14 when she saw the tragedy enacted on the old Phillips farm and also the driver. The driver, however, denies that he was out on the night in question.

Kiddies In Hawaii Have Malnutrition

HONOLULU, T. H. — Of the 42,643 school children in Hawaii 80 per cent have some physical defect, says Dr. A. L. Davis, Medical Director of Schools for the Health Board, in his annual report.

Fifteen thousand have defective teeth, 10,000 are afflicted with diseased tonsils and adenoids, 4,890 have eye trouble, 1,212 are suffering from malnutrition, 1,361 have skin trouble, 379 have chest trouble and 257 have ear trouble.

Malnutrition, says Dr. Davis, is a tremendous problem. In one Honolulu school 36 per cent of the children were below normal weight, and 730 in Honolulu were grossly undernourished.

SEE COUNTERFEIT PLOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—That German counterfeiters plan to flood the United States with spurious 50 and 100 pound Bank of England notes was the belief of private detectives and secret service men after further investigation of the activities of Ivan Glavadamovic, former Los Angeles bank clerk, arrested here as he was about to depart after disposing of approximately $6000 worth of the notes to Bay City banks.

A New Outpost Will Be Established in the Progressive March of the Commercial Life of This Community.

THE doors of the new Community Savings & Commercial Bank at 1726 San Fernando Road will open on November 18th at 9 a. m. and remain open until 9 p. m. The opening of this bank will be a striking point in time from which lesser occurrences will be dated.

The opening of a State Bank is an extraordinary occasion. There is nothing about it that is either ordinary or unusual. It is an event of tremendous importance to the public. It is so influential a factor in the development of this locality that it has the importance of an epoch-making event in history.

We have provided a handsome souvenir in the nature of a silver Artpoint Pencil which will be presented to every First Day Depositor—either checking or savings—no matter what size the deposit may be.

This souvenir is a substantial affair designed especially for this occasion and is possessed of practical usefulness. The First Depositor at the bank Saturday morning will receive a beautiful gold pencil and all other depositors will be presented with silver ones of the same design and quality. BIG LEAGUES TO FACE NEW FIGHT

Ban Johnson Threatens to Drop Bombshell in Ranks of Both Majors

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Another one of those political flare-ups, for which major league baseball has become famous long since, is in prospect when the joint meeting of the American and National leagues is held here in December. This one, so we are informed, is to be an issue between Ban Johnson and Judge Landis, baseball autocrats, past and present, and while the draft ostensibly will be used as a basis of argument, it will be nothing else than a fight to swing the balance of power over to the man who has become something of a baseball feardragon.

Johnson has promised to drop a bombshell into the major league meeting. This, it seems, is to take the form of a demand that the American league either force the five large minor organizations to swallow the draft, in toto, or suffer a boycott.

Such action would break the major-minor agreement, by the terms of which the American association, Pacific league, International league, Southern association and the Western league were declared immune from the draft and automatically would line up Johnson and Landis on opposite sides of the fence.

The National league would, of necessity, line up with the commissioner, since it went on record as late as last year as opposing a similar plan, introduced by Charles Ebbets.

And there you have the ingredients of another diverting little family brawl.

Some go so far as to intimate that an inter-league war is brewing. That, we believe, is stretching the possibilities too far.

Johnson still is a power in the American league and if a showdown came no doubt would have the St. Louis, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Washington and Detroit clubs with him, but show-downs are often unpleasant and expensive.

He must realize that he cannot hope to gain a decision over a rival league, standing in a body behind baseball's supreme head.

The week spot in Johnson's armor is the adverse attitude of the New York, Chicago and Boston clubs toward him. It was this trio that opposed Johnson some three years ago in the famous Mays controversy and later favored Landis when baseball was reorganized and the famous jurist put at its head.

PRINCETON LEADS EASTERN SQUADS

Cornell Also Makes Strong Showing; Bears Roll Up Highest Point Total

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—After another turbulent week, in which team went astray, Princeton and Cornell sit astride the football heap in the east.

The Tigers seem to be the champions for a week, at least. They have won seven games and lost none and their victories were more glorious than those games over less illustrious opponents.

West Virginia, figured generally as an eastern team, has also won six games without being defeated. In the undefeated class also are W. J. and the fine Army eleven.

W. J. and J. has one tie game with Carnegie Tech and the Army has engaged in two no-decision contests with Yale and Notre Dame.

One More Contest
Princeton has one more game between a first-class claim on the eastern championship and the culmination of one of the best seasons the Tigers have had in years.

That one game is with Yale next Saturday and the Elis have developed to a point where they are most for no one.

California, which overwhelmed Washington, 45 to 7, leads the country in scoring with 321 points. Cornell, with 282 points, is the leading scoring eleven in the east. Center leads in the south with 254, and Iowa leads in the Western conference with 153 points.

Michigan still remains as the only major team in the country that has not been scored on, and Notre Dame is next with only 10 points allowed the opposition.

Jake Schaefer and Belgium Star Meet

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Jake Schaefer, present champion, will meet Eduard Horemans of Belgium, who beat Erich Hagelbacher of Germany, in tonight's match of the tournament for the 182 lb. line billiard championship of the world.

In the afternoon Roger Conti of France will face Hagelbacher.

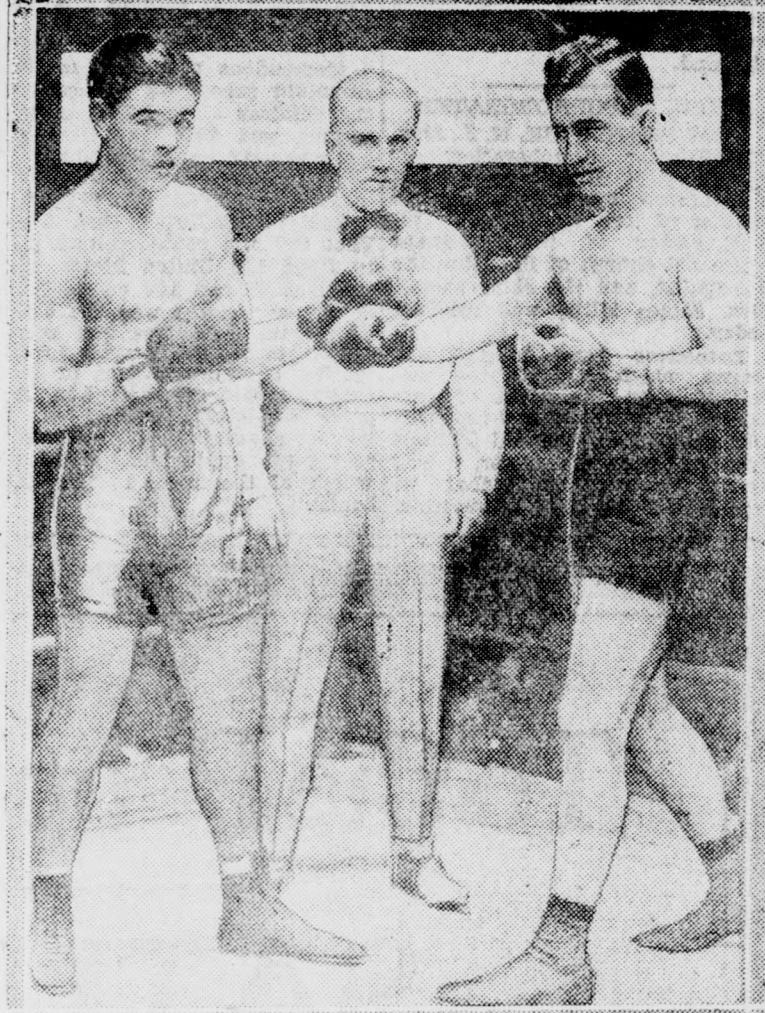

Willie Hoppe won his second match last night in defeating Welker Cochran by a score of 599 to 162. As in his opening match with Horemans, Hoppe ran out his stalling in nine innings for an average of 55.9. He made runs of 192 and 169.

Frank Chance May Manage Boston Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—It was rumored today that Frank Chance, former leader of the Chicago Cubs, or Bill Carrigan, ex-Red Sox manager, will be named in a few days to succeed Hugh Duffy as manager of the Boston Americans.

Kuhn, Loeb and company, of New York, have this year received in gold from Europe, up to October 1, $36,625,000.

Mick Walker, Jersey Boy, Wins World's Welter Title From Veteran Jack Britton After Fifteen Rounds of Hard Scrapping

This photo, taken in the ring of Madison Square Garden, New York, just before the bell starting the fighters off to a fifteen round bout for the world's welterweight championship, shows, left to right: Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., the new world's welterweight champion; Referee Patsy Haley and Jack Britton, who lost his welter crown to Walker after the hardest fought battle witnessed in many months.

The World Over
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Troubles never come singly. After being debarred from the ring in the United Kingdom, New York follows suit and forbids Batling Siki, the Senegalese conqueror of Carpenter from appearing at this balliwick. Once a fashion is started it is likely to spread and Siki may find himself taboo all round.

While it only counts one point, ball games do not take much interest in the kicking of the goal after a touchdown, this little solitary point nevertheless is full of dynamite. When Chicago lost to Princeton it lost by the margin of the three little points missed after its three touchdowns, which the Princetonians had successfully converted.

If anything was needed further to add another ring to the funeral knell of Rugby football, the recent action of Stanford University, the last of the colleges to stick to the English game as a major sport, was the deciding one. It has been customary in the past for Stanford to send a Rugby team to British Columbia during the Christmas holidays to play a series of games in Vancouver and Victoria. There will be no pilgrimage northward this year.

The effort to get some one into the ring to make something of an equal battle against Champion Jack Dempsey remains exactly as it was the day after Dempsey took the crown away from Jess Willard.

It is doubtful if there has been any time in the history of pugilism when there was such a dearth of heavyweight material of grade A quality, and scarcely anything that can even be dignified with being placed in the second class. It all seems to be third class and under.

For a moment it was thought that Batling Siki the phenomenon had sprung into existence but it did not take long for the critics to come to the conclusion that he was another false alarm, and there has been absolutely no demand on the part of the fans for a match between the Senegalese and the champion.

Little has been heard of Jess Willard and his aspirations for a return match of late, but it is almost sure to crop up again when his boosters deem the time ripe to do so. It is not likely to provoke any enthusiasm among ring followers, and there are many who think, under the conditions that no promoter will be likely to take a chance of staging an event that is more likely to produce concern and merriment than to be taken seriously.

It is all well enough to talk about letting Dempsey fight the winner of a bout between Tom Gibbons and Bill Brennan, but there is not one fan in one thousand who harbors the belief that either one of those second, or third raters, would stand the chance of a chance against the champion.

Of course any one of the men

'GRID' CLASSICS DUE THIS WEEK

East, West and South Slated to Vie for Honors in Important Matches

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Just as Caesar had his Brutus, Charles H. his Cronwell, etc., so may Princeton have its Yale, Michigan its Wisconsin and W. J. its Pittsburgh before nightfall on Saturday. So, also, may some of the other unbeaten football teams of the East, West and South be overtaken by the inevitable and a sock behind the ear just to add to the general hilarity.

The Tigers, Wolverines and the Presidents, however, face the high hurdle of the day. It will astonish no one if the latter are knocked over by Pitt. Indeed, the impression is that the latter is due. As for Princeton the fact is recognized that it has preserved an unbeaten record at the expense of Harvard and Chicago because it is a fighting team. It may need more than that to beat Yale.

Reckoned along the line of comparative scores, Michigan is all of 27 points better than Wisconsin. The Wolverines, still to have its goal line crossed, beat Illinois 27 to 0 and the latter hung a 3 to 0 defeat on the Badgers as late as last Saturday.

That, of course, proves nothing beyond the fact that vinegar will not turn sweet, particularly if you keep it on ice.

Pointless Wisconsin is not feeling altogether genial over the Illinois reverse and will go to Ann Arbor in the frame of mind of a party with a nail in its shoe. It will be a great battle but Michigan should win.

Stanford to Meet Washington Huskies

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Pacific football fans will see one of the hottest gridiron battles of the season tomorrow at Palo Alto unless all indications fail.

Coach Enoch Bagshaw and his squad of Washington huskies arrives this afternoon at Stanford for a final work-out before meeting the Cardinals tomorrow and advance reports say they are "rarin'" to go and haven't eaten nothing but raw meat on their way down from Seattle.

And it's a fighting bunch of young men that will represent Stanford Saturday. Coach Andy Kerr is out to win and his eleven is just beginning to know itself. It has a great deal of power that has never manifested itself, and Kerr is hopeful that tomorrow's game will draw it out just in time to make use of the new found steam against California in the "big game" a week later.

California takes a rest tomorrow. Nevada is on hand to clash with the Golden Bears at Berkeley. The second string men will have a chance against the Nevada eleven is fast and shifty and hopes to score.

The team that will represent the west against Penn State at Pasadena Saturday, a day will be elected by telegraphic vote of members of the conference immediately after the results of Saturday's games are known. Washington hopes to win so decisively over Stanford that they will have no side order of University of Southern California, the expected selection.

Three Dead, Eight Hurt In Explosion

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Fear that the death toll in the moonshine still explosion and fire, in which three persons were killed and eight injured, would mount to four was expected today as John Bottino, 10 years old, was reported in a dying condition from burns.

Joseph H. Vardome, owner of the establishment where the blast occurred, was arrested. He is suspected by the police of having been the owner of the still which exploded, causing the fire.

Two of the dead are of Vardome's family. The dead are Pauline Vardome, 35; Vardome's wife, and Mary Vardome, 11, daughter, and Steve Bottino, 11.

Plot to Assassinate Richest Man, Claim

ATHENS, Nov. 17.—It was reported from Bulgaria today that two Turkish Albanians named Hamdi and Anadoff, had departed for Louisiana with the avowed purpose of assassinating Elutherios Venizelos, former premier of Greece, and Saraz Zarafoff. The latter is a Greek citizen, but lives in Paris. He is known as the richest man in the world.

DECIDES AGAINST BRITISH
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A decision of far-reaching significance to the commercial and shipping world was handed down by the United States supreme court in awarding to Philip A. Warner, New York broker his commission on the sale of the British steamer Eskason. This involved the British government's right to control the transfer and sale of ships of British registry in foreign ports, and the supreme court decided, by inference, that it had no such right.

SCRAPPY BUNCH TO PLAY FOOTBALL

Trojans and Idaho Squads to Clash Saturday at Pasadena Stadium

By HOWARD M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News.
The next big football treat in store for Southern California football fans will take place Saturday afternoon at the Pasadena stadium when Gus Henderson's U. S. C. Trojans will mix with the scrappy little eleven from the University of Idaho in a regularly scheduled Pacific Coast conference game. Although the visitors are not expected to win from the Trojans they are nevertheless reputed to be one of the scrappiest squads in the west, and a real battle is assured from start to finish.

Coach Bob Mathews, the brand new coach of the Ididons, arrived in Los Angeles with his warriors last night and repaired to the Maryland hotel in Pasadena, where they will make their headquarters until after the game. Mathews' gang consists of a squad of nineteen players, Trainer Stone and Graduate Manager "Knut" Knudson.

Open to Wide World
The first practice on a local gridiron was scheduled for the Vandals, as they are called up north, for yesterday afternoon on the stadium field. Unlike most coaches, Mathews has come forward with the statement that he is "agin" secret practice and that the whole wide world will be welcome to gaze upon the plays of his squad. Whether or not this is a good stunt it is a pleasing one to the close followers of the grid pastime who are craving more "dope" for the conflict.

Headed by captain "Babe" Brown, who has been classed by certain northwestern sport scribes as being among the country's most dangerous backfield men, the Idaho team is perfecting a group of new plays entirely different in nature from those used by California and Stanford against U. S. C. Their average weight has been given as being near the 170-pound mark, which will place them somewhere near ten pounds lighter than their opponents. This fact is proving far from a worry, however, as the Vandals are reputed to be particularly strong on the defensive.

Trojans Working Hard
While the Idaho squad is working out at Pasadena "Gloomy" Gus Henderson is having his troubles at Bevard Field, where he is putting his charges "through the ropes" far into the night. At present four of the regulars, Captain Leo Calland, Chet Doley, Otto Anderson and "Ironides" Baker—are laid upon the shelf with injuries and sickness. Calland has a severe cold, Doley is generally banged up from the Stanford game, Anderson has a bad knee and Baker still has a stiff neck. However, it is practically assured that any or all of these huskies will be available for duty Saturday afternoon if occasion demands.

The tentative lineup for the game is as follows:
U. S. C. R.E.L. Cobley
Milton R.T.L. Vohos
Anderson R.T.L. Neale
Calland R.G.L. Kline

The MUCKER
by Edgar Rice Burroughs
Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

"De Chinks might o' been shadowing us—it wasn't safe to sleep," he admitted; "but I'll tear off a few dis mornin' after we find a feed of some kind."

"What can we find to eat here?" she asked.

"Dis creek is full o' fish," he explained. "an' of youse got a pin I guess we kin rig up some scheme to hook a couple."

The girl found a pin that he said would answer very nicely, and with a shoe lace for a line and a big locust as bait the mucker set forth to angle in the little mountain torrent. The fish, unwary, and hungry thus early in the morning proved easy prey, and two casts brought forth two splendid specimens.

"I could eat a dozen of dem minnows," announced the mucker, and he cast again and again, until in twenty minutes he had a goodly mess of plump, shiny trout on the grass beside him.

With his pocketknife he cleaned and scaled them, and then between two rocks he built a fire and passing sticks through the bodies of his catch roasted them all. They had neither salt, nor pepper, nor butter, nor any other viand than the fish, but it seemed to the girl that never in her life had she tasted so palatable a meal, nor had it occurred to her until the odor of the cooking fish filled her nostrils that no food had passed her lips since the second day before—no wonder that the two ate ravenously, enjoying every mouthful of their repast.

"An' now," said Billy Byrne,
"I tink I'll pump my ear fer a few. You kin keep yer lamps peeled fer de Chinks, an' de first fony noise youse hears, w'y be sure to wake me up," and with that he rolled over upon the grass, asleep almost on the instant.

The girl, to while away the time,
explored their rock-bound haven.
She found that it had but a single means of ingress, the narrow pass through which the brook found outlet. Beyond the entrance she did not venture, but through it she saw, beneath, a wooded slope, and twice deer passed quite close to her, stopping at the brook to drink.

It was an ideal spot, one whose beauties appealed to her even under the harrowing conditions which had forced her to seek its precipitous safety. In another land and with companions of her own kind she could well imagine the joy of a fortnight spent in such a sylvan paradise.

The thought aroused another—how long would the mucker remain a safe companion? She seemed to be continually falling from the frying pan into the fire.
So far she had not been burned, but with returning strength, and the knowledge of their utter isolation could she expect this brutal thing to place any check upon his natural desires?

Why, there were few men of her own station in life with whom she would have felt safe to spend a fortnight alone upon a savage, uncivilized island! She glanced at the man where he lay stretched in deep slumber. What a huge fellow he was! How helpless she would be were he to turn against her! Yet his very size, yes, and the brutality she feared, were her only salvation against other dangers than he himself. The man was physically a natural protector, for he was able to cope with odds and dangers to which an ordinary man would long since have succumbed. So she found that she was both safer and less safe because the mucker was her companion.

As she pondered the question her eyes roved toward the slope beyond the opening to the amphitheatre. With a start she came to her feet, shading her eyes with her hand and, peering intently at something that she could have sworn moved among the trees far below. No, she could not be mistaken—it was the figure of a man.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

INDUCTANCE COIL MOUNTING

It is safe to say that 80 per cent of the commercial operators and a larger centage of the amateur experimenters are taking advantage of the easy method of utilizing the laterally wound inductance coils to increase the wave length capacities of their receivers. These convenient coils require a special type of holder to permit of easy and rapid adjustment.

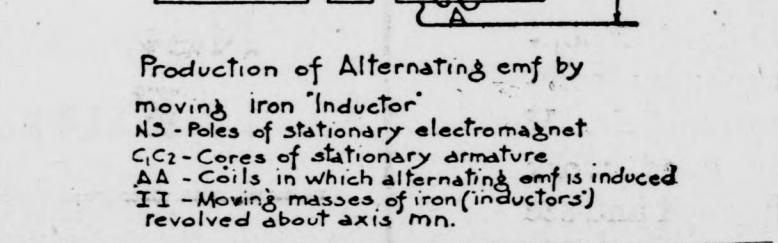

The illustration shows a particularly desirable mounting for this purpose, which is simple in adjustment, and permits an easy method of exchanging coils of different values.

RADIO EXPLAINED By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

INDUCTOR ALTERNATORS

Another type of alternator is of especial interest in connection with radio telegraphy, and is one that is now being largely used by the transoceanic commercial circuits. It is called the "inductor alternator," and is also frequently alluded to as high frequency alternator. As the latter term implies, it is used particularly for the generation of continuous high frequency currents, say around 100,000 cycles per second, but is used for lower frequencies.

The principle on which such machines operates is illustrated in very elementary form in Fig. 1. The field magnet and the armature are both stationary. A considerable gap separates the armature core from the faces of the field poles. In this gap are masses of iron, I, free to revolve in a plane perpendicular to the plane of the paper about the axis MN. These masses of iron are called the "inductors." Imagine them to revolve by an external force.

FEDERAL OFFICES RAIDED
SAN DIEGO, Nov. 17.—Federal prohibition, customs and naval recruiting offices in the postoffice building here were burglarized. The offices were upstairs and had been left unattended. The thieves ransacked the desks and files, creating a state of chaos.

BRIDEGROOM MEETS DEATH
SACRAMENTO, Nov. 17.—Police are investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Forest Ricketts of Roseville who was found in a residential district here with a bullet wound in his head and a revolver beside him. He died at the emergency hospital.

Relatives of the man told them he shot himself although they were at a loss to give the reason for the suicide. Ricketts, it was learned, was married at Roseville two weeks ago.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CHIPS

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Don't forget the basket!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the rabbit gentleman as he hopped from his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Don't forget the basket? Now exactly what does she mean by that?" whispered Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he turned back to see his muskrat lady housekeeper standing in the doorway. "I wonder if I promised, last night, to take Grandfather Goosey Gander a pumpkin turnover in a basket?" thought the bunny.

Nurse Jane, seeing that Uncle Wiggily was puzzled, began to laugh out loud.

"You remember!" said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I thought you wouldn't, so I'll tell you. Last night you said you'd take the basket from the woodshed and bring me in a lot of chips this morning. Chips are so useful in starting the fire these cold mornings. You were to get the chips from Beaver Pond, where Toodle and Noodle Flat Tail had helped gnaw down trees for the beaver family to live on during the winter."

"Oh, yes, now I remember!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "It almost slipped off my mind, Nurse Jane, as I once slipped off the slippery walk when it was covered with snow and ice. But I'll take the basket and bring it back to you filled with chips."

As Nurse Jane had said, Uncle Wiggily promised to visit Beaver Pond that day and gather up chips. Beaver Pond was the home of Grandpa Whackum, the oldest beaver of them all, and he was so called because when danger threatened he would whack his tail on the ground, making a noise all the other beavers could hear.

Toodle and Noodle Flat Tail were beaver boys, about whom I have told you some of these bedtime stories. And beavers, you know, live in houses made of mud and sticks, set in a pond of water. For food, among other things, beavers gnaw the bark off willow and aspen trees. And to make a pond where there is none, the beavers cut down big trees so they fall across a stream, stop the flowing water and cause it so spread out into a little lake.

"And when beavers cut down trees with their big, gnawing teeth," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he hopped along with the basket, "there are sure to be plenty of chips. I'll get these chips for Nurse Jane."

At the Beaver Pond Uncle Wiggily found Toodle and Noodle, as well as Grandpa Whackum and all the other animals, very busy.

"For winter is coming on," said Toodle, as he slyly tickled his brother Noodle in the ribs, "and we must store away in our house lots of bark to eat."

"Help yourself to as many chips as you want, Uncle Wiggily," said Grandpa Whackum, and the bunny gentleman filled the basket.

"You had better be careful going home, Uncle Wiggily," said Mr. Flat Tail, the father of Toodle and Noodle.

"Why should I be careful?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Because one of my beaver friends who lives on the other side of our pond just came in and told me he saw the Fuzzy Fox sneaking around," said Mr. Flat Tail.

"Oh, I'll fool the Fox," chuckled Uncle Wiggily. Then he hopped off with his basket of chips, thinking how many warm fires Nurse Jane could make with them. There were hundreds and hundreds of tiny wooden chips in the basket, which was quite full.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, taking care not to spill any of his chips, all of a sudden there was a rushing in the bushes, and out popped the Fuzzy Fox.

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"What's the matter?" snickered the Fox.

"You are the matter," went on the bunny uncle. "I told Mr. Flat Tail that I could fool you, but I didn't—you have caught me after all. Oh, dear!"

"Yes, indeed, I have caught you," barked the Fox. "You can't fool me now. I am going to take you off to my den and nibble your ears, Uncle Wiggily!" and he caught hold of the bunny's paw to drag him along.

"Do you mind if I take with me this basket of chips?" asked Uncle Wiggily, numbly like.

"Oh, no, bring it along," growled the Fox. "It will do to start my fires with."

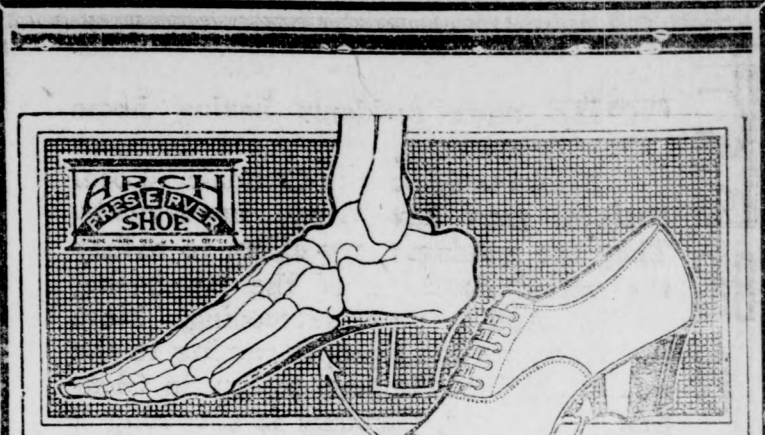

All of a sudden, as the Fox was leading him along, Uncle Wiggily slyly with his paw knocked some chips off the top of the basket. The chips scattered on the ground. Oh, do you mind picking up those chips for me?" gently asked Uncle Wiggily. "I have stooped over so long, picking them up at Beaver Pond, that if I lean over again my rheumatism will begin to ache. If you want those chips for your fire, Mr. Fox, you had better pick them up."

"I will," growled the Fox. He stooped to pick up the fallen chips, and then, all of a quick-ness, Uncle Wiggily emptied the whole basket of chips over the Fox. The fine chips got in the eyes and nose of the bad chap. He coughed, sneezed and turned a somersault. And when the Fox was doing this Uncle Wiggily suddenly turned and ran away with the empty basket.

"Ha! Ha! I fooled the Fox after all!" laughed the bunny. Back he hopped to Beaver Pond, filled

THE more residents having home town loyalty, the more business blocks to be built in Glendale. Local business men have large investments. They are making every effort to satisfy the varied demands of the purchasing public. And they are succeeding. More and more are local people coming to the realization that "it pays to buy in Glendale." Further, Glendale is becoming a shopping center for nearby residents to an increasing degree daily. There are plenty of facts and figures to prove these statements. And don't forget this point—the more local people buy at home, the easier it will be for business men to put up new stores, increase present quarters, increase merchandise, increase competent help and make prices that will continue to beat the big city competition. Glendale stores deserve the full support of ALL Glendale people. HELP YOUR HOME TOWN—AND YOU ARE HELPING YOURSELF!

THE Glendale Evening News the other day suggested that a "Loyalty Club" be formed here—not only here, but in all communities. The idea is receiving hearty indorsement from all sides. In brief, the club should advocate loyalty to the home city by buying at home. The club should have a junior department, too. The youth of the city are taught to be loyal to home and country and while they are receiving their education they should be instructed in loyalty to local institutions—not just for the local merchants' benefit, but for the benefit of the WHOLE city. With everybody buying in Glendale, everybody prospers, and, it follows, everybody will be kept busy. All of which will go to make up better schools, better churches, better club houses AND BETTER CITIZENSHIP. It's easy to buy in Glendale. It's a good habit to form. It's a habit that will PAY YOU. It's a habit that will make a bigger and better Glendale. GET THE HABIT!

PLAN REPORT ON SCHOOL SYSTEM

Committee of Fifteen Will Make Inquiry; Bond Issue Will Be Suggested

wash rooms, twenty-three class rooms were added.

Enrollment Grows
"It is no exaggeration to say," he admitted, "that we are just as crowded now as we were last year before we began that building program."

The elementary school enrollment last year at this time was 3175, while now it is 3915—or an increase of 730 pupils. There are eight classrooms with an enrollment of over 50 pupils; twenty-three rooms having between 45 and 50 pupils, and forty-four rooms having between 40 and 45 pupils. This means that 75 out of 95 classrooms in the school system accommodate more than the 40 pupils prescribed by school law.

"The result is necessarily a lack of efficiency in the conduct of the schools," asserted Mr. White. He emphasized the fact that classrooms are built to accommodate 40 children and that when more than that number are put into one, the pupils not only fail to receive the proper amount of attention from the teacher but also are unable to obtain the amount of breathing space which their health demands.

Out of Districts
In order to be able to operate the school system this term, Mr. White said that it had been necessary to transfer large numbers of children to schools out of their districts. He said that the parents, the children and the board of education all deplored this necessity. He compared moving pupils from one school to another like taking sardines out of one can and putting them in another.

Half-day sessions will be an inevitable result of the increase in enrollment, unless steps are taken to accommodate the newcomers, according to Mr. White. He asserted that this system was being followed in many districts of Los Angeles and in some cases at Eagle Rock. He reported as an educator that this is a very inefficient arrangement.

O. B. Newby of 803 North Pacific avenue remarked that, as long as Glendale continued to grow, the community would have a school problem. He called attention to the fact that children are the greatest asset to any community and that it was up to the taxpayers to take care of them. He inquired if the Board of Education had any definite recommendations to make.

"The problem is a very complex one," replied Mr. White. "It is one that it would be difficult for anyone to solve off-hand. It is complex for the reason that there are a large number of schools and each one has its own needs."

The crux of the question, according to Mr. White, revolves about the future use of the present high school plant. He stated that its use as a junior high school would greatly relieve the situation, but denied that it would relieve the necessity of a program of expansion. He suggested a reorganization of the school system, providing for three school units: grammar schools, a junior high school and a high school.

"I quite agree with Mr. White that the proper solution of this problem is a complete reorganization of the school system," declared John R. Grey of 667 West Toran street. "We would then be working along more efficient lines and we would get better results."

A meeting to consider the consolidation of the high school and grammar school districts has been called for November 28.

Postmaster Jackson Issues Xmas Edict

Another request to Glendaleans to post their Christmas mail and packages early was issued yesterday by D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster.

Captain Jackson says that the early mailing of postal matter insures safe and prompt delivery, and that it will tend to reduce any possible congestion in the local postoffice department this year.

He also cautions Glendaleans to overlook any presumption of inquisitiveness on the part of his postal clerks during the Christmas rush.

"Inquiry of receiving clerks concerning contents of parcels is not prompted by idle curiosity nor impertinent inquisitiveness," he said.

Instead, it's a duty properly required for the safety of parcels posted. It is the clerk's duty to ascertain the nature of the goods and to see that same is properly packed, securely tied and explicitly addressed."

Sender's name and address should be plainly written on every parcel and piece of mail posted during the holiday, Captain Jackson warns.

CAPTURE FOUR BANDITS
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Four desperate bandits, believed to be the last of the notorious Gloriana gang, were captured after an exchange of bullets with the detectives and policemen which almost turned Locust and Wells streets into a battlefield. The bandits, who were in an automobile, were surrounded after a fight which lasted twenty minutes.

Evangelist Dunlop Opens Big Revival at Tropic Church

Evangelists Dr. H. P. Dunlop and wife of Chicago will open a series of special meetings Sunday morning at the Tropic Presbyterian church.

Dr. and Mrs. Dunlop are graduates of Northwestern University of Chicago, and the evangelist is an alumnus of the McCormick Seminary. He has given sixteen years to this special line of work in meetings from coast to coast. They conducted a most successful meeting last spring in Burbank with more than seventy persons joining the church there.

"We welcome these workers to our community," says Rev. J. F. Winard, pastor of the Tropic Presbyterian church, "and cordially invite the whole community to join with us in enjoying the old-fashioned revival. Music will be a feature of this work and the gifted evangelist and his good wife will sing a special duet each night. Our services will be short and snappy ones from 7:30 to about 8:30 o'clock. We want the young people especially to come for Dr. Dunlop knows how to use wit and humor as vehicles of truth."

"What is more important," says Dr. Dunlop, "than the moral and spiritual training of our young people? And with only twenty-five hours of study in the Sabbath school a year we feel that this must be supplemented with a special series of meetings—hence the revival."

BIG 'DOLLAR DAY' SALE NOW ON

Huge Crowd Attends Opening Drive by Merchants on North Brand

That "Dollar Day" is a splendid merchandising event, and a successful way in which to acquaint the public with their stores was the unanimous opinion voiced this morning by the merchants participating in the "Dollar Day Drive" in the 200 block on North Brand.

Shortly after doors swung open for business, throngs of shoppers flocked to the 200 block to take advantage of the many dollar bargains offered for today and tomorrow.

Seldom is that business houses, organizations either business or social, are found making a concerted effort together, to achieve a definite purpose. But "Dollar Day" in the 200 block on North Brand was put over by the whole-hearted co-operation and enthusiasm of every merchant.

Dance Tonight
Tomorrow, Saturday, promises to be another big day, stocks have been replenished and hundreds of special bargains will be on sale tomorrow until closing time Saturday night.

To add zest and enthusiasm to the "Dollar Day Drive" the North Brand merchants are giving a public street dance this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock and lasting, "as the advertisement says—until!"

There is absolutely no charge to the public, free music, free dancing—free hot dogs and free pie will prevail. What more could anyone want? Every Glendalean is invited to attend and he can feel assured that a warm welcome awaits him to-night at the big street dance.

SEEK ACCIDENT'S CAUSE
SEATTLE, Nov. 17.—Work of resuscitating the wrecked Boeing pursuit plane, from which Lieutenant Frank B. Tyndall, army air pilot, escaped with his life in a parachute when the wings of the plane collapsed at a height of 5,000 feet, will be started immediately, it was said at the Boeing plant here, in an attempt to determine what flaw in manufacture may have been responsible for the mishap.

The plane is buried in the waters of the Duwamish river in the south end of the city. Professional divers, working with dragging tackle from a tugboat, were sent to the scene of the accident to begin the work of salvaging the machine.

The old battleship Kearsarge has been cut down and made into a crane ship, the only one in the world. The massive crane has a lifting capacity of 250 tons and is capable of tugging from its moorings an object weighing 500,000 pounds.

New Congress May Impeach Daugherty

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—Far from being "dead," the impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty will be undertaken with renewed vigor when congress gets under way again on Monday. It was announced here today following a conference between Representative Roy O. Woodruff, Republican of Michigan, and Oscar E. Keller, Republican of Minnesota, the chief critics of the attorney general in the house.

WINS CHANGE OF VENUE
CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 17.—A change of venue in the trial of Frank Keeney, president of district 17, United Mine Workers, charged with being an accessory to murder as a result of the miners' march of 1921, was approved by the state supreme court here, when it refused to prohibit Judge J. M. Woods, of the Jefferson circuit court, from granting the change.

"Meet me face to face," says Dr. Dunlop, who opens an Old Time Revival service at the Tropic Presbyterian Church Sunday morning.—Advertisement.

Direct Hits Made on Moving Target

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 17.—Projectiles weighing 1,650 pounds have been hurled from the giant howitzer at Fort Story and registered direct hits on a moving target 22,000 yards, or approximately thirteen miles at sea, it was learned here today.

The fire was directed from airplanes and exceeded all expectations of the army and naval experts, under whose direction the experiments were conducted late yesterday.

HELD FOR CONSPIRACY
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Forty-eight heads of the larger building trades contracting supply firms of the city were held to answer in superior court by Police Judge Daniel O'Brien on charges of conspiracy to violate the Cartwright anti-trust law. They are alleged to have illegally combined to prevent contractors employing union workers from obtaining materials.

All street cars and bus lines of the city pass in convenient distance of the Old Time Revival at the Tropic Presbyterian Church, Central Ave. and Laurel Street.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Hutchinson to Give Tea Musicales

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, of 246 North Orange, is to be hostess at a musical tea Thursday afternoon, November 23, for the benefit of the women's parlor furnishing fund of the new First Congregational church.

She will be assisted in receiving by Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Calderwood, Mrs. George Colson, president of the women's auxiliary of the church, and officers of the auxiliary. A talented and interesting program is being arranged.

Four Soldiers in Irish Army Hanged

DUBLIN, Nov. 17.—Four unnamed soldiers in the republican irregular army have been secretly executed after having been convicted of "possessing arms for the purpose of rebellion against the Irish free state." It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

business administration committee, then offered a few pertinent remarks on the ideals and purposes of the Rotary movement. Stating that wars are caused by business unfairness and jealousy, he urged the necessity for a higher code of commercial ethics generally.

"More action and less talk is needed," said Mr. Hollister. "We are tired of the man who has one code of ethics for the home and another for his business. We want the single standard, in business as well as elsewhere."

Following his remarks on this subject, Mr. Hollister led the program of "Questions and Answers," which was adjourned midway till next week, owing to lack of time.

A short directors' meeting was held directly after the conclusion of the regular assembly.

Luncheon and Social Meeting Is Enjoyed

BUSINESS LOSSES, CLAIM
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Severe and unreasonable competition being conducted now at a loss, members of the federal trade commission were informed by Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation.

"The steel business is being conducted at a loss," he said, "because it is a buyers' market and not a seller's market."

good equipment was made by Mr. Hayselden.

"This railroad is our railroad, Glendale's railroad, the citizens' railroad," he exclaimed. "We have subscribed $25,000 and we may feel that we have a vested interest to that amount."

Former Residents of Kansas Give Program

Kansas, the sunflower state, was honored yesterday afternoon at the Columbus Avenue Parent-Teacher association's meeting at the school, by having two former Kansas residents, Mrs. C. H. Lyon and Mrs. Fitch in charge of the program.

It was the first of a series of meetings when mothers presenting various states are to have charge of the program and the seventy-five members and guests present were greatly pleased with the success of the first program.

A sunflower drill by eight of the boys and girls featured the program. Other numbers were readings of poems by Eugene Ware, the Kansas poet, by Jean Fitch and Dorothy Thompson. A playlet, "How the Toys Got Over the Mountain," completed the program.

After the program Mrs. C. H. Thompson, president, directed a business meeting, during which it was reported that the association now has 265 members.

A plea was made for old clothing for the coming year, and relief drive by Mrs. C. L. Peckham, patriotic chairman, and plans were discussed for holding a fathers' night program and entertainment.

Owing to the fact that the next regular meeting day of the association comes on December 21, the women decided not to meet again until January.

The food sale held after the meeting yesterday added more than ten dollars to the association general fund.
